“The philosopher is not a citizen of any community of ideas,
that is what makes him a philosopher.”

Dont´t think, but observe!

“Clearly, a way across Lacan’s [w]hole can be developed by using Bakhtin’s Bridge. Actually, this ›bridge‹ might be more descriptivelie called ›Wittgenstein’s Wobbly Planks across the Quagmire‹.” (Words, 1994, p.54)

What have you learned?

If people never did silly things nothing intelligent would ever get done.

Nothing is hidden!

„And we may not advance any kind of theory. There must not be anything hypothetical in our considerations.

We must do away with all explanation, and description alone must take its place.

And this description gets its light, that is to say its purpose, from the philosophical problems. These are, of course, not empirical problems, they are solved, rather, by looking into the workings of our language, and that in such a way as to make us recognize those workings: in despite of an urge to misunderstand them. The problems are solved, not by giving new information, but by arranging what we have always known. Philosophy is a battle against the bewitchment of our intelligence by means of language. (PI, §109).

“What has to be accepted, the given, is – so one could say - Lebensformen.” (PI, p. 226)

Nothing is hidden!

“What we observed was so simple and obvious and so easy to see, since it was right on the surface and had long been readily available to any observer; yet it had remained hidden away We saw a therapist who was talking with the client. (Words, 1994, p. xvi)
